6. Special lists are drawn up. Names on them are checked against the dossiars kept by the Central Committee of the Party. Communist Party officials who have been guilty of submitting false information are to be prosecuted.

- 7. In spite of the armed forces, espionage, and the Communist Party, resistance to the Soviet regime continues. The Moslems of the Caucasus especially resent state control over deliveries of cattle. The nomad herdsmen, most of whom are armed, resist vigorously. Numerous cases of combat between these men and the police are reported. Various reports indicate 80 dead and 250 wounded, in April 1954. Military detachments are being sent into the most dangerous areas.
- 8. Army depots are often the objects of sabctage. On 2 Apr 54, another of them was blown up, this time east of Yerevan. It contained clothing and other supplies. This is believed to be the work of resentful Mohammedans, with the cooperation of other anti-Communist reaction clear. The usual mass arrests followed the explosion.
